Canon RF 70-200mm F4L IS USM

Big performance, compact design Capture the world with L-series quality from a compact, lightweight telephoto zoom that incorporates a five-stop Optical Image Stabilizer to ensure great handheld results, closer focusing down to 0.6m and super-fast autofocus.

Rating: Not Rated Yet
Ask a question about this product

ManufacturerCanon

Description

Compact, light and portable
Ideal for travel, sports and wildlife thanks to its compact size and light weight, the RF 70-200mm F4L IS USM has pro features in a small size and won’t take up much room in a kit bag.

Pro grade image quality
As well as Air Sphere Coating, four UD lenses correct aberrations while a 9-blade iris and constant F4 aperture give superb bokeh, even at its closest focus of 0.6m.

Advanced stabilisation
Designed for stable handheld shooting, the Optical Image Stabilizer gives great confidence, with up to 5-stops available.

Quiet, fast and precise AF
Dual Nano USM motors bring incredible new levels of rapid and silent continuous focusing, perfect for stills or video.

No compromise construction
This L-series lens features weather-sealing and fluorine coatings to guard against dust and water, plus heat resistant paint to reflect heat in sunny conditions.